Problem Statement

It's difficult for college students to track all of their assignments and homework, which can lead to students missing due dates and failing assignments.

Who is Experiencing the Problem?

Students of all ages who cannot find the balance of organization and scheduling.

What is the Problem?

Students do not have an easy way to become organized and stay up to date with reminders.

Where does the Problem Present Itself?

In all schools, mainly universities and high schools.

Why does it Matter?

Students and families pay countless amounts of money for an education, and poor grades due to being unorganized is unacceptable.
